

■ About LiveEO GmbH

LiveEO is a technology startup that uses innovative AI technology to analyze satellite data and provide solutions to companies that own infrastructure facilities. Main services include:

- Treeline: manages the proximity of trees around infrastructure facilities,
- SurfaceScout: monitors construction and other activities around facilities.

These solutions are offered to companies that own infrastructure such as power transmission lines and railways. These services enhance the efficiency of inspection and patrol operations that were traditionally conducted visually from the ground or by helicopter.

Additionally, LiveEO provides a forest monitoring service called TradeAware to comply with the EU's deforestation regulations (EUDR). This service evaluates whether companies are conducting their production activities while preventing deforestation. It is particularly popular among companies involved in the supply chains of food, wood products, and natural rubber.
